

Setting Up MSCAD 2005 for Limited Accounts

Install MSCAD 2005 using an Administrator Account

On the computer that will be run using a Limited Account, you need to install it using an Administrator Account.

Run Program once as the Administrator

On the same computer, you should start MSCAD 2005 and run it as the Administrator. Either open an existing or create a new drawing. Once you have done this, it is safe to close and exit MSCAD 2005.

Log on as the Limited User

You can now log on with the limited user account. You will see a message about the support paths being set up which is normal. Once you press OK to this message, you will be able to use MSCAD.

